The Colombian government is continuing to send reinforcements of motorized and infantry groups to the Colombian-Peruvian border. Tres Esquinas, which is being set up as the command post, and other cities in the central portion of Colombia, are prepared for an attack on the border. Machine guns are being mounted on all available military aircraft. Three fully armed B-25's and seven P-47's, of which three are armed, will be based at Villavicencio. Sixteen AT-6's, with guns mounted in the rear seats, will be based at Neiva.
